Celebrate Hope and Strength with BCFE

September is Gynecological Cancer Awareness Month whereas October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month across the world. BCFE considers this an opportunity to raise awareness of cancers that affect women's health in Egypt. Several events will be held to spread knowledge, encourage women to get screened and show support to women who fight cancer.

Learn about the risk factors and symptoms of gynecological cancers. Know your family history and the recommended tests.

Listen and pay attention to your body's signals. If you have any unusual spotting, bloating, watery discharge, or itching, then make an appointment with your doctor. Don't put it off. Early detection is the key to fighting these diseases.

Act to reduce your risk and take steps to protect yourself. Making healthy food choices, exercising regularly and managing your weight, can help reduce your risk. Seek help from specialized doctors if you have been diagnosed with a gynecological cancer.
